

annual report 2003-2004

UF LAW CENTER ASSOCIATION, INC.

The University of Florida Law School and I invested in each other years ago. All the material things I have and a lot of my most valued memories and accomplishments have been dividends to me from that investment. I've always felt I owe the law school a return on its investment in me.

Vinson Barrett (JD 76) with wife Carlene

2003-2004 thank you

Last summer my 12-year-old daughter told me she figured out that if I would practice law for a certain number of additional years, she would have enough time to finish law school and move into my office. That way, we would not have to change the name of the law firm!

Beyond the mixed feelings of fatherly pride, the conversation made me think again about how the things we do to support the College of Law are really for our children and the lawyers who will come after us.

One of the things the Board of Trustees has worked toward in the last two years is putting more alumni in touch with the college. The response has been terrific. Thanks to donations that supplement the cost of attending law school, the campus is more diverse than ever. Ask any student and you'll be bombarded with appreciation for alumni who come speak about their practice area or who let students shadow their work.

In fact, student participation in mock interviews conducted by alumni in Fall 2004 was so overwhelming, Career Services had to schedule an extra day. Take one look at events listed in the college's weekly newsletter and you will see the quality of student activities your donations support.

There are many ways alumni can give back to our law school. One of the easiest is to make a donation to the college's Annual Fund, which supports faculty and student activities and academic programs and services.

What's my point? Your contribution of time, talent or treasure always gives you a benefit far beyond the amount of the gift.

Gator lawyers have a long tradition of contributions to our school, our state, and, in fact, our country. Think about it. Contributing to the college is an opportunity that I hope you will not miss.

Michael J. McNerney
Chairman, Law Center Association, 2003-2004
Brinkley McNerney Morgan Solomon & Tatum
Fort Lauderdale

But why give back to the law school?

Because the University of Florida Levin College of Law is the greatest law school in the state, bar none.

Because it is destined to be one of the greatest law schools in the country — it is already in the top 18 public law schools and in the top 50 of all law schools, public or private.

Because our children, and the children of all Floridians, should not have to go out of state or go into devastating debt to attend a "great" law school.

Because the law school allowed many of us to achieve and surpass the American Dream and become members of the world's noblest profession.

Because it puts us all in a long line of UF lawyers — a list which includes some of the most successful trial lawyers in America, governors, U.S. senators, members of Congress, Florida Bar presidents, ABA presidents, leaders of national law firms, great philanthropists, state legislators, federal and state trial and appellate judges, Florida Supreme Court justices, law professors and scholars, prosecutors, public defenders, selfless public-interest lawyers who serve the poor and disadvantaged, large and small in-house lawyers at corporations, and just plain hardworking members of the Bar — who do their part, day-in and day-out, to protect the rights of ordinary Americans.

Because, as practicing lawyers, we have a duty to make sure that new lawyers entering the profession are well equipped to practice law skillfully and ethically, and the University of Florida is the training ground for the best lawyers in America.

In short, we have a great law school. But your generous support is essential. Imagine your own list of reasons to give back and join other Gator lawyers participating in taking it to the next level of excellence.

To the individuals and firms listed on the following pages, we say simply and sincerely, thank you.

Thank you for shaping the future of the Fredric G. Levin College of Law and, most importantly, the future of our students ... students who become well-educated lawyers who, in turn, shape the future of families, clients, law firms, communities, businesses, the legal system, government agencies and, in some cases, the world.

Plainly put, the continuing heritage of excellence in legal education at the University of Florida and its far-reaching impact would not be possible without the generosity of our donors. Your gifts enhance every area of the law school, including:

- ▶ Scholarships, stipends and loan assistance
- ▶ Moot Court and Trial Team training, travel expenses and materials
- ▶ John Marshall Bar Association and many other student organizations
- ▶ Professorships
- ▶ Faculty research and enrichment
- ▶ Book Awards
- ▶ Legal Information Center support
- ▶ Conferences, symposia and lectures
- ▶ Student and faculty recruitment
- ▶ Public interest fellowships for students

Our support is really for our children and the lawyers
who come after us.

MCNERNEY

2003-2004 financial summary

Annual Fund Results

Donations to the Annual Fund are vital and foster better, stronger programs at the Levin College of Law. These generous gifts — which increased almost 19 percent from fiscal year 2002-2003 to fiscal year 2003-2004 — touch every area of the law school educational experience and are its lifeblood year-in and year-out. The following reflects contributions received through the Law Center Association and UF Foundation. The restricted total included gifts to the Graduate Tax Program, extracurricular student organizations, and other non-endowed funds.

Unrestricted	$407,128
Restricted	$124,120
Total	$531,248

Alumni Participation

A key measurement for top public law schools is the percentage of alumni who regularly contribute and support funding needs. Historically, about 10 percent of the UF law school's 16,000 living alumni support their school, but small gains continue to be made each year. Alumni participation in 2003-04 continued this trend, with approximately 12 percent of all Gator law alumni participating in the Annual Fund, Endowment Fund and Building Fund.

Total Donors	2,131
Alumni Donors	2,015
Total Gifts	2,912

Endowment Income

Gifts to the law school's endowment are not spent, but instead are carefully invested to yield a dependable, stable source of income in perpetuity. Approximately 3.67 percent of earned interest from the market value of the endowment fund balance was transferred and spent for specific uses designated by donors and by college administrators for annual operating and administrative costs. (The additional earned interest above the 3.67 percent is returned to the fund balance.) The fund grew almost 13 percent in 2003-04 under the stewardship of the University of Florida Foundation, which oversees investments and law school endowment income.

	FUND BALANCE	INTEREST TRANSFERRED
1997-1998	$28,630,708	$816,589
1998-1999	$43,410,446	$1,197,483
1999-2000	$57,931,929	$2,129,167
2000-2001	$58,442,477	$2,907,585
2001-2002	$59,837,880	$2,971,718
2002-2003	$46,903,630	$2,287,087
2003-2004	$52,975,580	$1,582,204

A law school dedicated to advancing human dignity, social welfare and justice through knowledge of the law.

Endowment Contributors

The Endowed Fund provides a permanent foundation for the college and is indispensable in supporting important programs and activities. Donors give to this fund for many reasons: to provide scholarships, honor distinguished careers, memorialize loved ones, serve as an estate-planning tool, or to simply thank and support the college. The benefits from those gifts are immeasurable and allow the college to weather state cuts and plan for the future.

Class Gift

It says a great deal about a law school when newly graduated law students pledge and give back to their law school even before they enter the work world. Both classes in the academic year of 2003 – 2004 made contributions that will be used for programs such as Florida Law Review, Moot Court, Trial Team, Florida Journal of International Law, and the Black Law Students Association.

The Fall 2003 graduating class had 23 percent class participation and contributed $19,025 to the college. Working with Class Gift Chair Sarah E. Rumpf were committee members Jonathan T. Brand, James L. Davidson, Troy Finnegan, JoAnn Marie Guerrero, Brian McPherson and Scott Smylie.

The Spring 2004 graduating class raised the standard by presenting $42,375 through 37 percent class participation. Class Gift Chair Elizabeth Schule worked with committee members Joel Feldman, Tiffani Fernandez, David L. Gay, Vanessa Gordon, Erin Gray, Robert Luck, Anna Shea and Michael P. Silver.

A reading room in the new Lawton Chiles UF Legal Information Center will honor both classes for their generous gifts.

2003-2004 thank you

Thanks to alumni financial support, our law school is able to sponsor awards such as this as well as high quality courses that increase our determination to be the best.

■ Book Awards

Book Awards honor and encourage academic excellence by recognizing the top student in each course. In the 2003-2004 year, awards were sponsored for a five-year period with a $2,000 annual contribution, a $7,500 one-time gift, or an endowed gift, pledge or bequest of $40,000. (The criteria changed for 2004-2005). Sponsors and recipients receive a plaque and other recognition.

Annual Fund

Because state assistance and tuition cannot keep pace with the college's ongoing needs, the Law Center Association allocates unrestricted Annual Fund donations to programs where assistance often means the difference between mediocre and first-rate. The fund provides for student financial aid, faculty research projects, conference and competition travel, guest professors and lecturers and much more.

2003-2004 thank you

Being able to participate in Moot Court competitions is a win-win for everyone. We become better lawyers, advance the reputation of the school and are better employees when we start practicing.

While repayment for what I received from the law school is impossible, I believe my tangible support helps the law school improve and reflects in some measure my respect, loyalty and love for the University of Florida and the important role it plays in providing high quality legal education in Florida.
