2009-2010

The domestic and international economies continued to experience general malaise during the 2009-2010 fiscal year, and while the areas of development and career placement were impacted negatively, the effect on the Fredric G. Levin College of Law and Law Center Association activities was less than anticipated, and far less than experienced by other colleges of law around the country with which we compete. Moreover, in the midst of the economic doldrums, UF Law experienced significant successes during the past academic year:

- UF Law was ranked fourth among public law schools in 2009, and eighth among all law schools, in number of graduates serving as federal district court and circuit court of appeals judges;
- UF Law was the only Florida law school ranked by U.S. News & World Report in 2010 within the top 50 law schools in the United States, both public and private;
- In its first-ever ranking of the nation's law schools, Super Lawyers ranked the University of Florida Levin College of Law eighth in the country among all law schools, public and private, and fourth among public law schools. This ranking was based largely on the graduates of law schools around the country and how well respected they are based upon their selection to appear in the publication Super Lawyers;
- The Graduate Tax Program at UF Law ranked third in the country, continuing its tradition of leadership as one of the pre-eminent graduate tax programs in the United States;
- Despite a legal environment that has resulted in severe reductions, and in many cases elimination, of the hiring of associates in private law firms around the country resulting in significant unemployment or under employment of recent law school graduates, our 2009 graduates had a 0.5 percent unemployment rate, compared to 3.3 percent in 2008 and 3.9 percent in 2007. Viewed another way, our success rate for the graduating class of 2009 was 99.5 percent, an extraordinarily high percentage, regardless of the law school or the geographic area with which it is compared.

I feel compelled to give due credit for this success to the incredible efforts made by the members of our Board of Trustees and its Career Development Committee in seeking placement opportunities for 2009 graduates; to Dean Robert Jerry for the creative ways he has found funding for programs, such as fellowships, which provide employment opportunities for deserving 2009 graduates; to the extraordinary legal education provided by our outstanding faculty; and, of course, to the increasingly talented and hard-working students who have prepared themselves so well to enter the legal marketplace.

A chairman's message would be incomplete without reference to the Annual Fund. Our UF Law alumni have, once again, responded positively in the face of our difficult economy. Although the average gift declined slightly, we had impressive increases in total dollars raised and participation percentage. Finally, sincere gratitude and appreciation is extended to the 2010 graduating class, whose class gift was $79,197. You have set a shining example, not only to those who follow you, but also to those who preceded you.

President Bernie Machen and Dean Jerry continue to be resourceful and creative in allocating limited resources to maintain the quality of UF Law's faculty, curriculum and facilities in the face of reduced state funding. These challenges underscore the importance of private giving, not only with current resources, but also through bequests and other estate planning devices. We have created a Planned Giving Task Force of the Board of Trustees to focus exclusively on outreach to alumni in order to provide education and encouragement in the area of planned giving. Please build UF Law into your estate plans, because only through such gifts can we hope to achieve our goal to be one of the top five public law schools in the United States.

I look forward to seeing as many of you as possible at the law school and on campus in the near future. Go Gators!

LAW ALUMNI COUNCIL
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE
2009-2010

Carter Andersen, President
Greg Weiss, President-Elect
Matthew Posgay, Secretary
Gary Printy, Immediate Past President

One of the greatest characteristics of UF Law alumni is our pride and appreciation for our law school. Membership in the Gator Nation and the Gator Lawyer Network are badges of honor throughout the United States and in our great state of Florida.

We show our pride and appreciation in many ways — we return to Gainesville for Gator games, law school events and national conferences. We keep in touch with our classmates and refer business to Gator lawyers throughout the state. Perhaps most important of all, we give back to our College of Law!

Please accept my heartfelt appreciation and thanks to each of you who made a contribution to the Levin College of Law Annual Fund! This year, you generously gave a total of more than $729,000 to our Annual Fund, which represents the second highest total for gifts to the Annual Fund in our college's history.

Your generosity has had tremendous positive effects! Current students enjoy the greatest facilities, the best faculty and the strongest learning environment UF Law has ever seen. We now attract the best and brightest students from every state in the country and keep home the best and brightest Florida residents.

UF Law's reputation continues to grow. We are being recognized nationally for the high quality attorneys practicing throughout the U.S. In the first national ranking of law schools to consider "output," i.e., the caliber of a school's graduates, Super Lawyers magazine ranked UF Law first in Florida, eighth overall nationally and fourth among public schools nationally. The Super Lawyers ranking was based on the number of each school's graduates in the magazine's annual state and regional listing of exceptional lawyers. Bill White, publisher of Super Lawyers magazine, stated: "In the real world — the world of clients and juries and judges — no one cares about your GPA or LSAT score. All that matters is how good and ethical a lawyer you are. That's the focus of Super Lawyers."

Your generosity also has created a culture of giving that is being matched by our recent graduating classes. Over the past five years, the graduating class gift has steadily increased to a remarkable level — the Spring 2009 graduating class, despite graduating in the wake of the most difficult legal job market in recent memory, came together to pledge over $113,000 as the class gift. This is by far the largest class gift in the history of UF Law! A typical pledge from these recent graduates was $200 per year for five years.

Your continued participation and support for the Annual Fund of the law school has helped assure the continued success of UF Law. Along with most publicly funded law schools in the country, UF Law relies heavily on donations from alumni to the Annual Fund. The Annual Fund is a general fund directed by the dean of the law school used to help students, professors, programs and the law school as a whole. Gifts to the Annual Fund influence national rankings, recruitment of students and faculty, support co-curricular student organizations and services and programs for students and alumni.

I also would like to say a special thank you to Dean Robert Jerry and his wonderful wife Lisa, and to the great people at the Office of Development and Alumni Affairs at UF Law for their commitment to making the University of Florida Levin College of Law the best it can be.

Thank you again for your support, and Go Gators!

Carter Andersen (JD 98), President, University of Florida Law Alumni Council

Contributions received to non-endowed, non-building funds

Endowment Income

Gifts to the law school's endowment are not spent, but instead are carefully invested to yield a dependable, stable source of income in perpetuity. Approximately 4 percent of earned interest from the market value of the endowment fund balance was transferred and spent for specific uses designated by donors and by college administrators for annual operating and administrative costs. (The additional earned interest above the 4 percent is returned to the fund balance.) The fund is managed by the University of Florida Foundation Investment Company (UFICO), which oversees investments and law school endowment income.

I support the law school to not only show my appreciation for the education provided to me, but also to assist the law school in its continued quest to improve, so that today’s law students will be well prepared to meet tomorrow’s challenges.”

"The best leadership is shown by actions and not words. Gene Kubicki, the founder of Kubicki Draper, showed by his actions how important it is to give back to your alma mater. I owe so much to Gene Kubicki and the University of Florida College of Law. Giving back to my school is one of my highest priorities."

"I will be forever grateful for my UF education, and so the decision to support UF financially is an easy one for me. At the University of Florida, I learned the law, I learned about myself, I made friends with those who would forever shape my life, and I became branded forever a Gator. When the University placed that degree into my hands, it was a promissory note. I'm grateful to keep making payments."

“UF Law gave so many great Florida lawyers and leaders of our state a great education at a low cost. That is why so many give back time, talent, and treasure to make UF Law a better place for today’s students. When I give back to UF Law, I follow two pieces of advice of my hero, Mother Teresa of Calcutta: ‘Do not wait for leaders; do it alone, person to person’ and ‘If you can’t feed a hundred people, then feed just one.’”
