ENVIRONMENTAL & LAND USE LAW AT FLORIDA

The Environmental and Land Use Law Program draws on the tremendous strengths of the Levin College of Law, Center for Governmental Responsibility, and many programs at the University of Florida in closely-related disciplines to offer students an extensive choice of courses. The program offers joint degrees and opportunities for concurrent study in fields as diverse as wildlife ecology, environmental engineering, religion and nature, interdisciplinary ecology, urban and regional planning, real estate, and agriculture. Under the direction of ELULP Director and Professor of Law Alyson Flournoy, graduate of Princeton (B.A.) and Harvard (J.D.), the environmental law program offers a popular certificate program, summer study abroad, externships, and a non-litigation Conservation Clinic. The program benefits from the counsel and support of an Alumni Advisory Board composed of leading environmental attorneys and experts from throughout the country.

THE FLORIDA BAR, ENVIRONMENTAL & LAND USE LAW SECTION

2008 SPEAKER SERIES

Each spring, a selection of nationally-known scholars are invited to the University of Florida Levin College of Law campus to present their research to Environmental and Land Use Law (ELUL) students and faculty. The seminars allow students to explore new perspectives and sit in class beside their professors. The seminars are part of the Capstone Colloquium for certificate students, designed to enrich students' knowledge of environmental and land use law.

We are pleased to announce the 2008 Environmental Speaker Series, featuring four internationally recognized scholars and one practicing attorney who will participate in seminars with faculty and students.

All presentations will be Thursdays at 3 p.m. in the University of Florida Levin College of Law's faculty dining room in Bruton-Geer Hall. (Maps and directions are online on the college's website at www.law.ufl.edu/about/)

Those interested in attending one or more free sessions of the Environmental Speaker Series should contact the ELUL program assistant at 352-273-0777 or elulp@law.ufl.edu for information and reservations.
