

Honor Committee

University of Florida Levin College of Law

June 17, 2009

Dear New Levin College of Law Gators,

On behalf of the Honor Committee, congratulations on your acceptance to the University of Florida and welcome as an entering student in the Levin College of Law. The first year of law school is both challenging and rewarding as you delve into the study of law.

The Levin College of Law Honor Code, a part of the University of Florida Student Conduct Code, represents a commitment by students to adhere to the highest degree of ethical integrity. The Honor Code furthers the goal of the Levin College of Law to serve the public and the profession by producing attorneys dedicated to promoting justice, excellence, and respect for the law.

The Honor Committee is composed of law students, two faculty advisors, and the Dean of Students. The law students on the Honor Committee are elected by the student body. You can become involved in the honor committee by running for one of five representative positions for the first year class. The elections will take place early in the fall semester.

During the days of Introduction to Law School & the Profession, representatives of the Honor Committee will be pleased to spend some time with you sharing the details of the Honor Code. We will also ask you to sign a pledge that you will uphold the Honor Code while a member of the student body here at Levin. We encourage you to take the time to read Honor Code posted on the law school website. Taking the time to understand the expectations of the Honor System will assist you as you navigate your first year of classes.

The Committee looks forward to answering any of your questions or fielding your concerns. Please feel free to contact me at any time. Again, congratulations and welcome!

Sincerely,

Erin M. Swick
