UF Law Student Facts

- Washington, D.C. is the destination of more UF Law students than any other out-of-state location.

- In a tight legal job market, interning with a federal government agency is one of the best pathways to a job.

- To take advantage of the great opportunities for internships in the Washington, D.C. area, UF Law students must bear significant expenses, which many cannot afford.

- The average UF Law student graduates with over $80,000 in loan debt.

- Facts about our alumni in the Washington, D.C. area:
  - Hundreds of UF Law alumni currently practice in the Washington, D.C. area
  - Many have served at high levels in government
  - Many are leading practitioners in the top law firms

UF Law D.C. Fellowship Benefit Reception
Tuesday, February 24, 2015 | 6:00 p.m. – 8:00 p.m.
Norton Rose Fulbright US LLP
801 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW | Washington, D.C. 20004