

CENTER FOR THE STUDY OF RACE AND RACE RELATIONS

2017 -2018

Course Development Grants For UF Faculty

ABOUT THE CENTER FOR THE STUDY OF RACE AND RACE RELATIONS

The CSRRR is an academic research and resource center committed to de-stigmatizing race. With the objective of fostering communities of dialogue, the Center embraces historically and empirically based thinking, talking, teaching, and writing on race. To this end, the Center creates and supports programs designed to enhance race-related curriculum development for faculty, staff and students in collegiate and professional schools. More information on CSRRR available at: www.law.ufl.edu/centers/csrrr/

COURSE DEVELOPMENT GRANT

The Course Development Grant is intended to generate the teaching of a new undergraduate education course substantially addressing issues of race and/or race relations. Faculty grants will be awarded in the amount of $1,000. It is expected that Course Development Grantees will teach their newly developed course either during the Fall 2017 or Spring 2018 semester.

COURSE GUIDELINES

- The course must be designed as an upper-division undergraduate course. (3000-level or above);
- The course must dedicate at least 75% of course time to the study of race and/or race relations (courses can have a very specific focus or offer a survey of a broad topical area);
- The course should be of interest to a diverse range of undergraduate majors;
- The course should tap the applicant's research and scholarly interests; and
- The course must be new (applicant must not have taught the course and the course must not be currently taught by faculty in the department).

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

- A cover letter that summarizes the applicant's interest, background, and experience;
- A two-page prospectus of the course including the course title, description, objectives and an outline of the proposed course content (including topic area coverage) and readings;
- A curriculum vita

SUGGESTIONS FOR DEVELOPING A PROPOSAL

- Describe, in as much detail as possible, the substance of the course and connect substantive descriptions to course readings, requirements and activities.
- Combine seminal pieces of literature with the latest research and analysis.
- Define race broadly to include diverse racial/ethnic groups.
- Define key terms.

PREVIOUS FACULTY COURSES AWARDED THE GRANT

- The Psychology of Prejudice and Stereotyping
- Food, Eating, and Asian American Identities
- Race, Poverty, and Voting Rights in America
- Race and Crime in American History
- Blackness in the Post-Civil Rights Era

SUBMISSION DETAILS

- Online submissions should be sent to CSRRR@law.ufl.edu
- Please title email subject line: 2017-2018 Course Development Grant Submission
- DUE DATE: January 27, 2017

If you have questions please contact Dr. Diedre Houchen, CSRRR Postdoctoral Associate, at 273-0614 or diedre@ufl.edu