

Race, Policing, and Lethal Force:

Remedying Shooter Bias with Martial Arts Training

MONDAY

MARCH 20, 2017

12:00pm - 1:00pm

Chesterfield Smith Ceremonial Classroom
(Holland 180)

UF Levin College of Law
Reception to follow

Professor Cynthia Lee

Professor Cynthia Lee teaches criminal law, criminal procedure, adjudicatory criminal procedure, and professional responsibility at The George Washington University Law School. She has written on racial stereotypes and the law of self-defense, and is currently doing research on race and policing. She is the author of Murder and the Reasonable Man and co-author of a Criminal Law casebook. She is also the co-author of a 2016 casebook on Criminal Procedure.

CSRRR@law.ufl.edu

352-273-0614 • www.law.ufl.edu/centers/csrrr

