

Statement by Barbara Rogers, widow of the late Doyle Rogers (JD 52)

The Rogers family is delighted to be a part of this marvelous Levin College of Law Celebration of Legacy and Leadership honoring Doyle Rogers.

We thank you.

Doyle cherished his time at the Levin College of Law, following in the footsteps of his two older brothers and his father into the legal profession. They too attended the Levin Law School. Doyle was a partner in the firm Alley, Maass, Rogers and Lindsay in Palm Beach, Florida, for 59 years. Over the years, he remained loyal to the law school and he always attributed his successful law practice to the incredible education he received here.

In addition, his commitment and love for the University of Florida was apparent and VERY strong!! Everyone knew he was definitely a “Gator Fan!!”

Thank you for this special honor given by the Levin College of Law to my late husband, Doyle Rogers. I only wish he were here to receive it!
