LL.M. in Taxation and International Taxation Graduates of both programs have served at the highest levels in law and accounting firms, in government, and in academia both in the U.S. and globally.

Doctor of Juridical Science in Taxation UF created the first S.J.D. degree in tax; it attracts both U.S. and international scholars interested in tax teaching and research.

Joint J.D./LL.M. Degree UF has created a new program that allows students to receive a J.D. and an LL.M. in seven semesters of study.

Florida Tax Review Florida Tax Review, one of the few peer-review law journals, is the world’s number one tax journal according to the Washington & Lee journal ranker.

Global Reach In June 2018, UF co-hosted an international tax seminar in Shanghai with East China University of Political Science & Law and the Tax Council Policy Institute. In the fall of 2018, tax experts from around the world will convene at UF to analyze pressing tax issues during the 14th Annual International Tax Symposium.

Earning an LL.M. in Taxation from the University of Florida allowed me to advance my career in ways I never imagined. It’s an honor and privilege to utilize charitable tax and gift planning to help individuals and families honor their values, build legacy, and support charities. The knowledge I obtained and the relationships I built while in the LL.M. program gave me the tools to shape a career around my passions—philanthropy, art and education.

LULA SARA DAWIT, J.D. ’08, LL.M. ’09
DIRECTOR OF PLANNED GIVING, THE WOODRUFF ARTS CENTER

Without a doubt the UF LL.M. catapulted my career. Not only does the program provide broad and deep exposure to the tax law, it also cultivates the skill set for its graduates to tackle novel and complex tax issues that arise in practice where the rubber meets the road. The full-time grad tax faculty at UF Law are actively engaged in meaningful student development, and I benefitted directly from their commitment to students.

SCOTT BOWMAN, J.D. ’07 LL.M. ’08,
PARTNER AT MCDERMOTT WILL & EMERY LLP

The UF Law LLM/SJD program has been life changing. I made life-long friends, and the professors and mentors at UF Law inspired me to be both a better tax lawyer and a better person. My three years at UF were challenging, fun, and worthwhile.
