Course Materials

The assigned casebook for the course is Ascher & McCouch, Gratuitous Transfers (7th ed.) (West 2019). Students should also have a copy of the Florida Statutory Supplement and handout problems, which will be posted on the course website. Students looking for optional supplementary background reading may wish to consult McGovern, Kurtz & English, Principles of Wills, Trusts and Estates (concise hornbook) (2d ed.) (West 2011).

Course Objectives

The primary objective of the course is to introduce students to fundamental concepts and doctrines of inheritance law, including intestate succession, wills, and trusts. The course provides an essential grounding for students who wish to pursue advanced courses in fiduciary administration, future interests, and estate planning, as well as a general survey for students who intend to practice in other areas.

Class Meetings and Attendance

Class will meet in Room 355B at 9:00–10:15 a.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, beginning Tuesday, January 17. Regular and punctual class attendance is required. A student with more than three unexcused class absences may be penalized in the final grade or excluded from the course. Students should be prepared to discuss the assigned readings in class, and may expect to spend up to two hours of preparation for every class hour.

Evaluation

Students will be evaluated primarily based on the final examination, which will be graded anonymously. In calculating the final grade for the course, the grade awarded on the final examination may be raised by one grade level to reflect active, voluntary participation of consistently high quality in class discussion.

Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of the course, students should have a basic understanding of the laws of intestacy, wills, and trusts, enabling them to analyze practical applications and planning alternatives and preparing them to pursue advanced courses in personal and estate planning.
